With reference to the memo of the D.C. (Training) dated January 10, 1933, regarding one V.M. Maximoff, it has been ascertained that he is a Russian, born in Vladivostok on October 11, 1911. He arrived in Shanghai from Russia in company with his parents in 1924. His father, Mikhail Condratievitch Maximoff, is a native of Nijni Novgorod, North Russia, born in 1864 and is a book keeper by profession. At one time he was a broker on a small scale. At present he is unemployed and assists his wife in conducting a boardinghouse. Maximoff's mother, Alexandra Philipovna Maximoff, is a ladies dressmaker by profession, and owns a small Dressmaker's Shop, in her boardinghouse at 925 Harmony Terrace, Avenue Joffre Housell. She supports the whole family. Maximoff received his education in the First Russian School, 27 Yulin Road. He graduated in July 1930. From 1930 till the end of 1932 when he was discharged on account of the depression, he was employed as an engineer-apprentice with "Callender's Cable and Construction Co. Ltd.", Room 305, 368 Kiangse Road. From June to August 1932 he had a spare time job as a salesman with the Melcher & Co. (Motor Sales Department), 627 Avenue Foch. Maximoff has been a member of the Shanghai Field Battery S.V.C. from January 1931. He resides with his parents at 925 Avenue Joffre, House No. 11, Harmony Terrace.

There is nothing against him in Municipal Police records.
